It took 100 years and a Civil War before a black man's right to vote as a citizen was recognized by the US Constitution.

It took 150 years before any woman’s right to vote as a citizen was recognized by the US Constitution.

An Examination of our Gendered Political System and what it still means for Representation, Rights and Public Policy today.

WOMEN AND POLITICS
WS 453 M70 ONLINE FALL 2015
CRN 49310

Professor Mary Benanti
mbenanti@nmsu.edu